Dear Mr. Noe:

Your letter of March 24 has been received and our understanding is that you desire something to preserve new leather bindings and to restore life to the old ones.

Saddle soap is excellent for this purpose and may be procured from any harness shop or store that handles supplies made of leather.

Another method which is also less expensive is to use theatrical cold cream. The librarian who told us about this cream employs Rexall's and the following are his directions:

"It should be applied freely, rubbed in and then wiped off with a soft cloth."

If we have not interpreted your inquiry correctly please let us know and we shall try to help you out with your problem.

Very truly yours

Marion A. White

Dear Sirs:

Will you kindly advise whether you make shelf label holders for metal shelves, one inch in thickness. I find in an old catalogue of yours, descriptions of these holders for shelves 5/8 to 13/16 thick. Will you kindly quote me on lots of one dozen, in case you are able to supply label holders that will fit our shelves.

Very truly yours,

Secretary.

Dear Mr. Noe:

Your letter of September 8 has just been received, and under separate cover we are sending you a sample of our No. 4 shelf label holder. This holder is for use on shelves from $\frac{3}{4}$ to $1\frac{1}{16}$ of an inch thick.

We are also mailing you in another cover a copy of our latest catalog of Library Supplies and Equipment. On page 30 of this publication you will find prices for various quantities of the No. 4 holder. You will note the shelf label holders in styles Nos. 3 and 4 can be furnished in black enamel and olive green finishes; style No. 2 is available in only black enamel.

After examining the holder should you decide it will meet your requirements, we shall be glad to fill your order for whatever quantity you specify.

Very truly yours

Marion A. White
